“Free to Be Me”

Understanding how the variety of personality types will help us in our walk with God and our relationships with others

How can we celebrate all that God has made us to be? How do we discover who we are in Christ? How do we use our strengths to encourage others? How can we tear down walls and build bridges?

“Free to Be Me” is a fun filled opportunity to learn more about your personality type and to learn to build bridges with others. Using the Myers-Briggs® personality type indicator, interactive exercises and insights gained from years of leading this workshop, Canon Mark Pearson will share powerful tools for personal growth and relationship insights. This is a conference which can be helpful for any relationship, including church dynamics, families, marriages and friendships.
