2017—Issue 8

A VERY VERY SPECIAL PROGRAM PUT TOGETHER WITH YOU IN MIND:

Are you over 60? It is of the utmost importance you have your all final matters decided, written down and given to at least one other person. (Sometimes this is called "having your affairs in order.")

This includes your finances; your will / how you want your property disposed of; your wishes for calling hours and funeral. It also means exploring your thoughts and feelings about your life and your relationships. It also means your relationship with God. All this should be settled now lest a serious accident or a sudden, debilitating illness make it too late for you. In that case things will dump onto your family right at the time they are full of grief at your passing.

We have put together a very helpful conference for you with a doctor (Dr. Mary), a funeral director, a financial planner, an elder law attorney, an estate attorney, a counselor, and a clergyman (Canon Mark) who are experts in their fields. They will give you helpful, practical guidance. They will show you the various options you have.

This program will also be helpful for your friends or family members whom you would call for assistance.
